

● LiveSuite Executive Summary

LiveSuite is a Web3 streaming platform built to fix the broken economics of Creator Capital Markets. Right now, streamers on platforms like Pump.fun and Zora have no real way to monetize. They rely entirely on token volume, which dies the moment hype fades. LiveSuite gives them actual tools to make money and build sustainable streams.

The platform includes donation infrastructure through Dono.fun, customizable widgets, chat moderation bots, and deep analytics across every major CCM platform. Streamers get what they need to run a real operation. Viewers and traders get aggregated data and a unified experience across fragmented platforms.

The bigger goal is to make CCM tokens mean something. We're working on ways to tie tokens back to real streamer success so holders actually benefit when creators succeed. LiveSuite is infrastructure for a creator economy that works, not one built on speculation and hope.
