

● TheNumberDude, Founder and Lead Developer

TheNumberDude, known as "Number," is the Founder, CEO, and Lead Developer of LiveLabs LLC. He's building LiveSuite, a platform tackling the fragmentation and monetization problems in Creator Capital Markets, specifically within the livestreaming space.

Number has over seven years of coding experience with a focus on JavaScript/TypeScript, Go, and Python. His strengths sit in data systems, systems architecture, and backend development. Before LiveSuite, he spent time in crypto during 2021 and early 2022, building bots and private tools.

LiveSuite is his first major product. After spending time searching for work that actually mattered to him, he found Creator Capital Markets and went all in. The space has real potential, but it's held back by misaligned incentives, scattered infrastructure, and monetization that doesn't work for most creators.

The goal is big. Number sees a future where LiveSuite and the broader CCM ecosystem can stand alongside platforms like Twitch and YouTube. Getting there means solving hard problems in alignment, infrastructure, and sustainable revenue for creators. That's what LiveLabs is here to do.

Founder and Lead Developer
@thenumberdude